

Practitioner Training and Certification Program

Teaching Math: Basic Principles

Module Outcomes

During this module, you will:

- Develop a package of four different kinds of resources to use to teach a single skill or concept, to use immediately
- Explore how different kinds of activities have different roles in numeracy teaching and learning
- Explore some of the excellent internet resources available for math instruction
- Contribute to the teaching of other course participants by posting your work
- Benefit from sharing the results of other participants' work
- Practice "marking for confidence" by giving feedback to other participants